
First acceptable reply may win the race; DNSSEC validates the data, not merely arrival order or an untrusted key in the response.